Enhanced Implementation

The Implementation and Adoption Challenge

The risk with procurement technology is not selection but adoption. If implementation does not embed new ways of working, usage becomes inconsistent, buying drifts outside the platform and supplier oversight weakens as scale and complexity increase.

Enhanced Implementation acts as an accelerator to address this risk early.

What Enhanced Implementation delivers

- User setup for up to 25 users
- Supplier onboarding for up to 20 suppliers
- Contract upload and organisation for up to 20 contracts
- Up to 20 custom fields aligned to internal processes
- Six post-implementation support sessions
- A 2-hour training session for procurement and finance teams
- Access to the BuyingStation video training library
- Branded training video to support internal rollout and adoption

These elements are designed to drive adoption early, reinforce correct usage and keep buying behaviour consistent as scale and complexity increase

Why Implementation Matters

Implementation determines whether BuyingStation accelerates growth or gets bypassed.

Enhanced Implementation accelerates adoption by embedding BuyingStation into day-to-day buying from the start. It turns the platform into the operational backbone for buying, keeping pace as the business scales without slowing teams down or weakening control.

Why this matters:

- ✓ Adoption keeps procurement inside the platform rather than around it
- ✓ Controls hold as supplier volume and spend increase
- ✓ Data quality improves through everyday use
- ✓ Teams move quickly without workarounds or rework
- ✓ CFO investment pays back through adoption, control and delivered outcomes

How Enhanced Implementation works

Enhanced Implementation is delivered through a structured, human-led approach designed to embed BuyingStation into day-to-day buying. It works by:

Setting clear ownership and delivery cadence from the start

Configuring BuyingStation to reflect how buying actually happens

Embedding new ways of working through hands-on setup and training

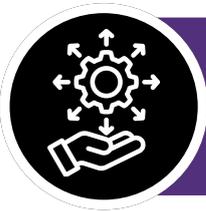

Reinforcing adoption after 'go-live' with structured follow-up

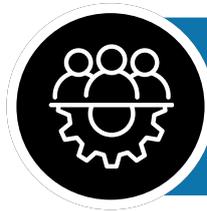

Technology supports the process, whilst human judgement and accountability remain central.

The Outcome

Enhanced Implementation accelerates time to value by ensuring BuyingStation is:

Deployed quickly

Used consistently across teams

Supported by reliable data

Able to scale without loss of control

Enhanced Implementation is the accelerator that ensures BuyingStation delivers what it was brought in to solve.
